Dakar, Senegal, August 7, 2025 – Just one year after laying the foundation stone, Africa REN announces the commercial commissioning of Walo Storage, the first photovoltaic facility in West Africa combined with lithium-ion battery storage, designed for frequency regulation and to meet local energy.

The West African nation, where over 60% of the population have access to electricity—one of the highest in the sub region—aims to achieve universal energy access by 2030. Senegal has begun commercial operations at a new solar energy facility that combines photovoltaic power with lithium-ion battery.

Battery storage is technically and economically more competitive than conventional spinning reserve technologies. Combining photovoltaic solar with a storage system is a unique solution to meet the current and future needs of the grid. In order to complement and intensify our local impact, Walo.

Renewable energy company Africa REN has started construction of the Walo Storage project – a lithium-ion battery energy storage system situated in northern Senegal. The $34.8 million project is funded by Dutch development bank FMO and the Emerging Africa Infrastructure Fund (EAIF) through.

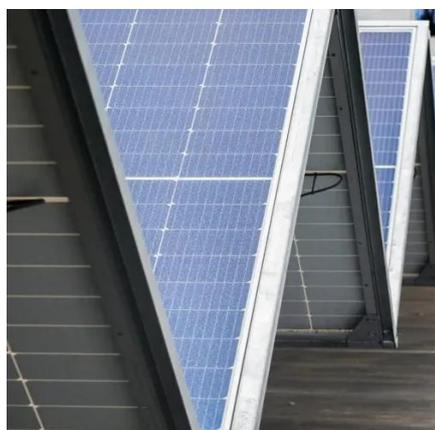

Independent power producer Africa REN has officially commissioned the Walo

Storage project in Bokhol, Dagana department, northern Senegal. This marks the first solar PV installation in West Africa to integrate battery storage dedicated to frequency regulation. The facility combines 16 MW of solar.
